

Jerry Audley Hits #1 on The Texas Music Chart with the Contagious – “Lucky Me, Lonely You.”

Houston, TX, May 11, 2008 -- Texas native Jerry Audley, hits #1 on The Texas Music Chart in only twelve short weeks with his catchy number “Lucky Me, Lonely You.”

Audley’s song was co-written by Ronnie Dunn of Brooks and Dunn, Terry McBride from McBride and The Ride, co-writer of "If You See Him/If You See Her," and "Play Something Country," and Shawn Camp, co-writer of hits such as: "Would You Go With Me," "Firecracker," and "Two Piña Coladas."

Fans across Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arkansas, and Louisiana were determined to get Audley to the #1 spot by calling in to radio stations across Texas requesting to hear this amazing number over and over. Jerry praises his fans. "I couldn't have done it without them. They believe in my music and have done everything they can to get me there. I also cannot thank the radio stations enough, for they have truly made it happen for me. I am so thankful to everyone, and to God, for this amazing jump to number one on The Texas Music Chart in only twelve short weeks."

Audley brings back the real classic type country music, with a modern twist. It's new, catchy, and his audiences love him. "Lucky Me, Lonely You," is just one of his virus-style beats featured on his debut release, “Audley Enough.”

Audley has another single coming out in June called "If It Ain't One Thing, It's Your Mother," that they have high expectations for, too.
